◆ METHODS DEBATED

Humboldt aims to reduce vehicle use

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION
HUMBOLDT – Humboldt County is advancing a policy to reduce vehicle miles traveled and the Planning Commission is split on the fundamental question of how existing levels should be defined.

A state law – Senate Bill 743 – has changed the way transportation impacts are analyzed.

Part of achieving the goal of reducing greenhouse gas emissions, the impacts are now gauged using vehicle miles traveled as a basis rather than factors like traffic congestion.

The county's impact analyses are done on a case by case basis now but that will change and the commission reviewed a draft vehicle miles traveled (VMT) policy at its May 1 meeting.

The threshold for defining significant VMT impact is based on current levels.

In Humboldt's cities, there's less VMT and the county has a choice between using the entire county, including cities, to define a baseline (existing) level or to focus on the unincorporated ARCATA – The City of Arcata held a second workshop on another transformative project last week at South G Street's Marsh Commons. The South Arcata Multimodal Safety Improvement Plan (SAMSIP) project aims to modernize multimodal travel on the U.S. Highway 101 and State Route 255 interchange, with safety and beautification enhancements along Samoa Boulevard and G Street south of Samoa Boulevard.

The goal is to improve and bridge gaps in multimodal access, improving access for all ages and abilities to use active modes of travel in south Arcata.

NO GLASS, PLEASE The annual Letter Carriers Food Drive is just around the corner, which means you can help "Stamp Out Hunger" in our community! This year, your participation in this food drive is more important than ever. It's easy to participate. Just look for a blue bag in your mailbox, put non-perishable items in the bag and leave it by your mailbox on Saturday, May 10. Your letter carrier will do the rest, collecting donations and delivering them to Food for People and their network of county-wide food pantries.

WHERE THE HEART IS

Arcata, Mck and Orick chambers woo visitors

Daniel Mintz

MAD RIVER UNION

HUMBOLDT – As described in presentations to the county's Board of Supervisors, Northern Humboldt's chamber of commerce groups are putting Humboldt on the tourism map with events, marketing efforts and new partnerships.

Representatives of the Arcata, McKinleyville and Orick chambers updated the board on their tourism-boosting activities at a recent supervisors meeting.

The chamber groups gave annual reports on use of tourism-related funding from Measure J, the county's hotel bed tax.

Arcata Chamber Executive Director Meredith Matthews, who also serves on the City Council, described an era of change.

"The Arcata Chamber of Commerce is not the same organization that it was just two years ago," she said. "While we are still operating proudly as a de facto welcome center open five days a week -- stocking brochures, greeting travelers and providing personalized recommendations for exploring Arcata and beyond -- our role in the community has grown significantly."

Matthews said since last year, the chamber has "taken on the planning and production of most of the major events on the Arcata Plaza," including OysterFest, the Fourth of July Jubilee and a "soon to be re-imagined" Arts! Arcata.

The chamber is also a "support hub" for events produced by other groups, including Godwit

Days and the North Country Fair, she continued.

Last year's Oyster Fest was the first produced by the chamber and Matthews said it "broke records for attendees and drew accolades for bringing visitors from all over California."

She told supervisors a "transformative collaboration" with Cal Poly Humboldt is in the works.

The details are under wraps for now, she said, but "rest assured, it's poised to be a game-changer for the chamber, the campus and for the city of Arcata."

One of the goals of McKinleyville's Chamber of Commerce is to use its directory listings, social media presence and maps for marketing the county as a whole.

"This helped create a unified, regionally-focused message for both local and visiting audiences," said McKinleyville Chamber Executive Director Jesse Miles.

The chamber's office on Central Avenue is a resource for visitors.

‘Scaling Our Energy Future’ talk by PG&E’s sustainability officer

CALIFORNIA – Pacific Gas & Electric Co. (PG&E) is one of the nation’s largest electric and gas utilities, providing power to over 16 million people across a 70,000-square-mile service area that stretches from the Humboldt Bay Area down to Bakersfield and from the Pacific Ocean to the Sierra Nevada.

For the final talk in this semester’s Climate and Clean Energy Series — “Scaling Our Energy Future: Insights from the Utility Sector” — PG&E Executive Vice President Carla J. Peterman will describe how the utility plans to scale the energy system to meet growing power demand, decarbonization and resiliency goals, while ensuring that energy remains affordable.

Peterman is the executive vice president of corporate affairs and chief sustainability officer for PG&E, overseeing the company’s regulatory, legislative, sustainability and charitable strategies.

Peterman’s career has included multiple senior-level government and utility roles focused on California’s clean energy future — including commissioner positions at the California Energy Commission and the California Public Utilities Commission.

She holds a Ph.D. in Energy & Resources from the University of California, Berkeley and MS and MBA degrees from Oxford University, where she was a Rhodes Scholar.

The Climate and Clean Energy Series is hosted by the Schatz Energy Research Center at Cal Poly Humboldt and seeks to provide illuminating conversations about complex topics in renewable energy, energy access and community resilience.

Free and open to the public; accessible parking is available just south of the Forum.

Please contact the Schatz team at schatzen.ergy@humboldt.edu or (707) 826-4345 for further questions or accessibility accommodations regarding this event.

MILL CREEK CINEMA TO CLOSE Coming Attractions Theatres announced on Facebook May 2 that the Mill Creek Cinema in McKinleyville will close after Sunday, June 1. “We’d like to thank you for your support over the years and hope that you continue to visit us at Broadway Cinema. Your Gift and Rewards cards will continue to be accepted at the Broadway Cinema,” stated the company’s Facebook page. The company did not provide a reason for the closure.

Ride a bike with public officials

CITY OF ARCATA
ARCATA – The City of Arcata is reaching out to invite the community to a new Bike Month Humboldt activity called “Ride with Public Officials.”

In honor of bike month in May, the City of Arcata is organizing a community bike ride where participants can meet up with City of Arcata staff for a public bike ride.

Participants will meet on the Arcata Plaza before noon on Friday, May 16 for a community group ride to celebrate bike month!

Bring a bicycle, helmet, a water bottle and comfortable riding clothes to join city staff on a ride through the Arcata Marsh and along the Bay Trail heading south.

Eventually, the route will loop back and end at the Arcata Plaza.

Tandem Mobility Bike-Share bicycles will be available for those in need, while supplies last.

There will be promo codes to make the bikes free to use for the hour, participants will just need to download the smartphone app prior to use.

There is a limited amount of bicycles available, so make sure to arrive early to claim a bike.

Please download the app prior to arrival to speed up this process at movatic.co.

For any questions regarding the ride, contact Cullen Groom in the Recreation Division at (707) 825-2202.

Guided Community Forest walks

CITY OF ARCATA
ARCATA – The City of Arcata would like to inform the community of a new activity called “Guided Forest Walks” which will teach residents about local ecology while enjoying nature.

The Recreation Division will be organizing regular community-driven guided forest walks in the Arcata Community Forest and Carlson Park. The first meet-up will be on Saturday, May 17 starting at 10 a.m. and finishing around noon. The group will meet at the Redwood Park Picnic Area located at 490 E. Park Rd.

Local botanist and plant ecologist Peter Warner will be guiding the hike to assist with plant identification and interpretation to share with participants the diverse plant ecology that can be found in the Arcata Community Forest. Come ready to learn and ready to connect with fellow community members interested in hiking the beautiful Arcata Community Forest.

Please bring comfortable hiking clothes, sturdy hiking footwear (closed-toe shoes, no sandals), water and any other items wanted for a two-hour forest hike.

This event is for all ages and ability levels. Youth under 18 must be accompanied by an adult. Please note the trails in the Community Forest are not ADA accessible. There are no pets allowed, unless the animal is a certified service animal.

For any questions regarding the ride, contact Cullen Groom in the City’s Recreation Division at (707) 825-2202.

Sheltering small animals during disasters

EUREKA – Humboldt Community Animal Response Team (HumCART), a recently formed disaster response community group, is seeking volunteers with animal experience and/or emergency disaster response training such as Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) interested in assisting with small animal sheltering during disasters. Humboldt County, as we know, is prone to earthquakes, wildfires, and floods. Working with animals during disasters requires training before a disaster strikes.

A four-hour class on Saturday, May 17 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. will be held in Eureka. Training covers an introduction to HumCART, volunteer requirements, setting up a small animal staging area, what to bring when helping during disaster (personal preparedness), among other related topics. To register for the training, contact HumCART@gmail.com by May 14.

HumCART volunteers, in partnership with emergency services, team up to evacuate and/or shelter-in-place animals at risk.

Our volunteers also participate in safety fairs, workshops, animal events and community venues to talk to Humboldt County residents about how to be ready to evacuate with their animals large and small.

For more information, check out humcart.org.

OBITUARY

Aryay Kalaki, 1934 – 2025

Aryay came to Humboldt County, like many others, to live out some of the visionary propositions of the 1960s. He had so far been rewarded with beatings, arrests and a fat file in the offices of the FBI. His photo had made the front page of the San Francisco paper when HUAC (the House Unamerican Activities Committee) came to town hunting for commies and subversives. Sprayed by fire hoses along with other protestors, cops dragged him feet first down the marble stairs of City Hall’s rotunda, hands jammed in the pockets of his corduroy jacket, looking like he was exactly where he wanted to be.

Even as the child of a liberal and cultured Portland family – he began violin at an early age – he reacted badly to unreasoned authority. Sent to a pre-eminent Eastern college, he left during his first year with an allergic reaction to the prevailing idea of order.

Only after living a year with relatives in Berkeley, who introduced him to leftist living and found him a job driving a furniture truck – beautiful music and working class politics – did he begin to find his way to health and happiness.

He enrolled at UC Berkeley, studied history and joined SLATE, the political group that preceded the Free Speech Movement, introducing politics to the “quiet generation” of 1950s college students, around issues like racial discrimination – yes, in Berkeley! – as well as apartheid in South Africa, atomic bomb testing but also mandatory ROTC and the segregation of women at UC football games.

From college he went east again, working for the National Lawyers Guild as an organizer wherever his skills were needed – in the Jim Crow south, north again, then back to the West Coast, where he worked with the Farmworkers under Cesar Chavez, and with the Panthers in some of their early organizing around breakfasts for children and the armed defense of neighborhoods.

All these now-famous actions attracted increasing violence during the Vietnam years, from Nixon’s dirty tricksters to hard-hat goons, leather-wearing bikers, and from trigger-happy cops and national guardsmen. This repression created strong solidarity on the left, but it was also met with hardening dogma and an all too familiar authoritarianism.

It was time to move to the country. Aryay began half a lifetime of work on an old house in Manila, he started an organic garden, supported himself by knife sharpening and carpentry – and he continued to be a political organizer wherever a social ill presented itself. In mid-century America, spraying toxic herbicides had become a chief tool of forest management, highway maintenance, and yard care, and it spoke personally to anyone with allergies.

Aryay and his partner, Ann-Marie Martin, worked as co-chairs of Humboldt Herbicide Task Force, and under their leadership this practice-so widely accepted as to appear “normal,” “never to be questioned” – turned out to be deeply unpopular with a huge swath of the public, from Native basket weavers to nursing mothers, from health workers to farm workers.

Organizing is never finished – many of these toxics are still permitted – but now in Humboldt County there are rules and regulations in place. You can still see the signs in front of rural houses: NO SPRAY.

A decade later, still in Manila, Aryay and a hand-picked group of activists began a campaign against off-road vehicles that were destroying its dunes and threatening the peace and safety of the community. Again, off-road driving was an accepted activity (Ronald Reagan declared it a national form of recreation) affecting only some low-value hills of sand and a few low-income people.

But organizing begins with asking questions and when people were queried at the mall and grocery stores, it was true that they didn’t care as deeply as they might about their poor neighbors and endangered wallflowers, but they really, really wanted dune buggies off their beaches. And when they formed a coalition, and held it together for years of protests and meetings, people got their property, their personal safety and their beaches back.

These contributions to community well-being, and many others, smaller and quieter, were never Aryay’s end goal, not what he was most proud of. When he was in hospice and wrote his own brief obit, he mentioned none of that. It was his home repair, small jobs for people of modest means – he’d place an ad in Senior News – along with his organic gardening, and especially his composting that he listed among his chief accomplishments.

In musical quartets and on remodel jobs, while bowling and engaged in friendships were his greatest pleasures, most especially with longtime companion and wife, Marcia Brenta and her two children, Amelia Hughes and Mario Brown. Aryay celebrated community in their home in Bayside, honoring Day of the Dead and solstice for many years. He embraced excursions to Breitenbush, Oregon and Rubio, Smith River for process and rejuvenation. Aryay’s loud guffaw-howl when something struck his funny bone, was a reminder of his delight in good company.

But when he saw the need for change in our lives, he was on us. From our most private moments – to his last breaths he argued for the efficacy of the compost toilet – to the most dire challenges of sea level rise, he was organizing us like lost sheep. In his final days in hospice, his letter to the editor appeared in the Mad River Union.

“The people who survive the coming changes and challenges will have to live closer to the Earth, from [off] the Earth, and with each other.”

Like a good organizer, he told those people (maybe you) to ask questions: “Questions about what of the industrial culture can be salvaged, and for how long, will be important to ask.”

Thanks, Aryay. You will be missed. Our VERBEENA, Aryay will be remembered by many family and friends in Portland, Humboldt, Berkeley, San Anselmo and Santa Rosa.

Celebration of life will be held at the Humboldt Unitarian Fellowship 24 Fellowship Way, Bayside on Saturday, June 7 from 5 to 8 p.m. RSVP at (707) 601-4687.

Arcata Marsh & Wildlife Sanctuary. Meet Cal Poly Humboldt graduate student Lily Olmo at 2 p.m. in the lobby of the Interpretive Center on South G Street for a 90-minute, rain-or-shine walk. MOTHER’S DAY AT POTAWOT

Join Redwood Region Audubon Society and United Indian Health Services Potawot Health Village for a free Mother’s Day guided birding walk at the Potawot Health Village community garden on Sunday, May 11 from 8 to 11 a.m. Enjoy casual hiking and birding at this popular site’s wonderful, well-maintained garden and trails. The 20-acre restoration area is part of the larger 40-acre Potawot Health Village, a coastal prairie in the ancestral Wiyot district of Gudinih. The land, now known as Ku’wah-dah-wilth Restoration Area, includes plants used in basketry, one of the most important cultural activities of tribes in the region, and other culturally important plants. Ku’wah-dah-wilth is the Wiyot term for “comes back to life.” Volunteers have worked to remove non-native, invasive plants and continue to do so. Endemic grasses, trees and bushes soon replaced the invasive species, and paths were created so people could wander the restored lands and refresh themselves. Local birder and field guide, Mark “Moe” Morri-sette, will help identify birds and other wildlife. UIHS Traditional Land Management Specialist Matt Hinshaw will provide an overview and activity information. UIHS will have a limited number of binoculars if needed. Please contact Sean McAllister at whiteouters@gmail.com or (707) 496-8790 to register.

Humboldt Trades Day at Redwood Acres

HUMBOLDT BUILDERS EXCHANGE

EUREKA – The Humboldt County Office of Education (HCOE) partnered with the Humboldt Builders Exchange for Humboldt Trades Day on Thursday, April 24 at the Redwood Acres Fairgrounds.

There were 36 local companies and agencies partnering for the program. More than 300 high school juniors and seniors gained hands-on experience at different exhibits on mock-ups, constructing walls, tiling, welding, operating equipment, using hand and power tools and more, all while connecting with local industry professionals from the community and gaining valuable workforce experience.

“Trades Day not only showcased the diverse opportunities available in the skilled trades but also fostered a sense of community and collaboration among attendees,” said Chris Evans, student assistance counselor, Northern Humboldt Union High School District. “It’s inspiring to see so many people passionate about pursuing careers in these essential fields. The student feedback was so positive. All were very impressed and felt like they were treated with respect and enthusiasm.”

Businesses and industries at the event ranged from local construction companies to public service agencies to financial institutions.

“We had a great time!” said Jess Kernen of Kernen Construction. “I thought it was a great turnout of industry partners, and we really enjoyed the enthusiasm and interactions of the students learning on the hands-on demos.”

Chief Kurt McCray of CalFire, said, “Trades Day allows local high school students to interact with CalFire personnel in a hands-on working environment. It demonstrates to students that there is a large diversity of local and very rewarding career choices. CalFire is honored to be a participant in Trades Day.”

Trades Day is a critical part of local Career Technical Education efforts, connecting students with opportunities as they prepare to enter the workforce.

“Trades Day in Humboldt County models how community minded collaboration can impact the workforce of tomorrow, said Colby Smart, Ed.D., Humboldt County deputy superintendent. “HCOE is so grateful to the businesses, individuals, and organizations that continue to invest their time and expertise so that youth can explore their interests and discover new industries. Redwood Acres continues to be an excellent partner and hub for community development.”

Chambers | Measure J funding

“We’re not any type of official visitor center but when folks are in McKinleyville, that’s where they stop by to find out about things,” said Miles. “We’re doing the direct work of welcoming people and connecting them with local experiences.”

The chamber is also “actively supporting new projects that shape McKinleyville’s future as a destination,” including the McKinleyville skate park, a planned BMX park and the Life Plan Humboldt and We Are Up housing projects.

Orick’s Chamber of Commerce is stationed in Redwood National Park’s Thomas H. Kuchel Visitor Center and Chamber President Donna Hufford said that’s “extremely significant due to the inability of park staff not being able to share or promote any local businesses due to regulations.”

The chamber has two people to staff its kiosk at the visitor center and Hufford said the group’s goal is to “improve the visit for the tourists and encourage them to stay a little longer and tell their friends to come back and visit.”

The Chamber has produced brochures, maps and a website.

“This marketing effort has helped boost awareness of the town as a gateway to Redwoods,” Hufford said.

Organizing and supporting signature events like the Orick Rodeo is also part of the chamber’s work.

Later in the meeting, supervisors approved Measure J spending for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

That includes sustaining the respective $28,432, $25,000 and $34,118 contributions to the Arcata, McKinleyville and Orick chambers.

A motion to approve Measure J spending for the upcoming fiscal year was on the table but Supervisor Steve Madrone suggested some changes – including increasing funding for the Arcata and McKinleyville chambers, and adding Trinidad to the funding list.

Madrone said the investment in Trinidad is worthy because the city sees a “massive amount of tourism.”

Other supervisors didn’t support Madrone’s proposal, with Board Chair Michelle Bushnell saying other cities in the county also deserve funding and Arcata has “a very good base of money to add to their chamber.”

The motion also included ending the county’s tourism marketing contract with the Humboldt County Convention and Visitors Bureau and allocating the $145,000 saved to the county’s Economic Development Division and the Project Trellis cannabis business assistance program.

Supervisors approved the Measure J allocations, with Madrone voting against.

OPINION

❖ It's soooo easy to get your letter published in the Mad River Union: First, finish your letter with a real name and a city of origin, plus a phone number (which won't be published) for identity verification. We don't need your street address, shoe size or astrological sign. Then, send it to opinion@madriverunion.com, or the physical address listed on page 2. Finally, make paragraphs, spell check, don't double space and don't capitalize random words. Basically, don't use Martian punctuation and everything will be fine.

An insane traffic plan

The “road diet” for Central Ave. in McKinleyville is one of the craziest ideas I’ve ever heard.

Do you enjoy driving in the Bay Area? Did you enjoy driving in Willits on a week-end afternoon before they put in the bypass? Probably not. In fact, one of the most delightful things I discovered when I moved to Humboldt decades ago was the lack of endless traffic snarls, and the ability to spend more of your time in a car actually driving rather than sitting in a traffic jam, watching in frustration as the lights change from red to green and back to red again.

This is what you can expect if you allow this insane traffic plan to go forward, especially as the Town Center fills up. As a former transportation planner, I understand the difference between “Level of Service “A” or “B” which is what we have now in McKinleyville, and “Level of Service “D”, where your car doesn’t move but continues to spew climate-changing pollutants into the air.

Yes, bikes need a safer space to ride. But realistically, how many people ride bikes in McKinleyville and how many drive cars?

Lifting the rug

Recently a report circulated indicating Amazon might separately state the tariff charge on items sold. In response, the Trump administration’s press secretary disparaged Amazon saying Amazon was motivated by Chinese propagandists and such actions would be “hostile and political.” In reality, Amazon had only considered this for Haul, its new web market for low-cost items, but no official plan had ever been made.

President Trump let reporters know he had contacted Amazon founder Jeff Bezos and concluded “Bezos did the right thing.” So why would Trump care so much?

The answer lies in the fact that the president is still trying to downplay who actually pays the tariffs. He brags how the tariff dollars will make America rich, but fails to explain the money is actually collected from US importers, not from the exporting countries like China; and the extra cost is likely passed on to the consumer.

If the tariff charges were shown, then every time a purchase were made through Amazon, it would directly tie the fee to Trump’s tariffs. Not a good look. Furthermore, if such a practice became widespread, consumers would began to realize just how often the tariffs were affecting them weekly.

The story may not end here. If retailers don’t begin showing these charges, I can imagine some consumer groups might come out with tariff cost listings themselves. Revealed either way, US consumers would easily see that which Trump would rather keep hidden under the rug; the true cost of his tariffs to them.

Those unrepentant paleo-hippie octogenarian

Deadheads are at it again

”JERRY GARCIA’S DEAD (UNDEAD, UNDEAD, UNDEAD)”

— If Bauhaus were Humboldt hippies

Why are there so many Grateful Dead cover bands in Humboldt County? (And yes, that was a rhetorical question.) I like the Dead too, but damn, you would think there would be some local musicians here in Humboldt who would be interested in doing something original musically instead of playing “Ripple” for the thousandth time in their life. C’mon, y’all. You can do better.

And then there’s this: most tribute bands do a disservice to the band they’re attempting to honor, because most bands that only play cover songs usually suck. And this is certainly true in regards to Grateful Dead tribute bands. But don’t be discouraged deadheads, because most bands’ versions of cover songs are awful, including The Dead themselves who were well-known for butchering songs on stage written by other musicians.

For instance, ever hear The Dead’s live version of Buddy Holly’s “Not Fade Away?” It’s the version that only a true deadhead could love. For those Buddy Holly fans reading this, you know what I’m saying – The Grateful Dead lived up to their band name by doing everything they could to drain the life out of that song sonically, somehow making an otherwise great tune boring and unlistenable. How dare they! R.I.P. Buddy Holly. (Rush’s version is so much better anyway.)

So don’t do the same here in Humboldt with the Dead’s music, much of which was outstanding. Do not dishonor them with your lousy cover versions of their many great original songs. We get it already deadheads, you love Jerry Garcia almost as much as you love LSD, but to put it bluntly you are boring local audiences with the same crappy concepts and boring, uninspired musicians and bands that are just rehashing old, worn material which is a paid ticket to musical disappointment for most listeners. Just saying. It’s almost as if you’re deathly afraid to play anything else but Dead songs locally.

Music should be interesting, for the listeners at least, if not for the bored and/or boring musicians themselves. Do yourselves (and us) a favor. Stop wasting your time and ours playing Grateful Dead songs already and write something new and if not necessarily original, at least write and perform some music locally and elsewhere that is derivative of bands other than the Dead. We can listen to “Touch of Grey” on our own at home without having to pay a cover charge, and if some unrepentant paleo-hippie octogenarian deadhead can’t handle that, just do your best Tommy Chong impression and tell them to “mellow out, man.” Then offer them some acid.

*I love coffee, I love tea
I love the java jive and it loves me
Coffee and tea and java and me*

– The Ink Spots

Coffee and conversation are the ultimate pair. The Mad River Grange has brought these two important ingredients together at its weekly, 7 to 10 a.m. Monday Coffee Club

There is no better way to see your friends and neighbors and also make new acquaintances than by stopping by for a cup.

Coffee Club will be celebrating three years of lively conversation and caffeine buzz (decaf and tea also available) on Memorial Day. The three movers and shakers of the club are Terry Kramer, Lynn Duggins and Kash Boodjeh. Each bring their specific to Coffee Club – Terry bakes a sweet dessert, Lynn does a savory frittata while Kash brews the coffee. There is always a wide range of conversation but political discourse is discouraged. Kramer summed it best up by stating “It’s all about local philosophical gossip.” Donations are appreciated with the proceeds going towards ongoing Grange projects.

❖ BLUE LAKE BLURB
Marvin Samuels

Duggins added, “We welcome everyone regardless of your ZIP code (Blue Lake is 95525). Bring some money and a positive attitude.” Rise and Grind – it’s coffee time.

Mother’s Day is Sunday, May 11. To show Mom a real down-home experience head over to the Mad River Grange for its Sunday Pancake Breakfast from 8 to 11 a.m. You can fill your belly with tasty biscuits and gravy, multi-grain pancakes, scrambled eggs, ham or sausage, orange juice and coffee or tea. A mere $10 will get you a real Grand Slam Deal.

Baseball season is in full swing and it seems that Buster Posey has brought some of the old magic and excitement back to our beloved San Francisco Giants. In between watching or listening to the Giants and the opening of the season for our popular Humboldt Crabs, you can experience some home town talent spinning yarns and songs about America’s pastime.

I Came, I Saw, I Ate a Hot Dog is a variety show about baseball and will feature Jeff DeMark, Paul Bressoud, Martin Swett, Larry Crist, Paul DeMark and Jeff Landen. This fun event will be occurring on May 9 and May 10 at 7 p.m. at the Exit Theatre, 890 G St., Arcata. HUMBOLDT COUNTY DEPT. OF AVIATION

HUMBOLDT – The Humboldt County Department of Aviation encourages travelers who plan to fly anywhere in the United States starting Wednesday, May 7 to know what types of IDs to use to board their flights.

Beginning Wednesday, May 7, travelers age 18 and older will be required to present a REAL ID or another acceptable form of identification, such as a passport or passport card, to board domestic flights.

Once enforcement begins, passengers who do not have a REAL ID or another form of Transportation Security Administration (TSA) accepted

It’s time to deal with whom you really are identification may experience significant delays, additional screening, identity verification procedures, and could be denied entry at airport security checkpoints. This requirement applies to all passengers, including those with TSA PreCheck.

Passengers can avoid delays by making sure they have a REAL ID-compliant identification or another acceptable form of ID. A REAL ID is not required to board a flight if travelers have a valid passport or passport card with them.

To determine if your California driver’s license or identification card is REAL ID-compliant, look for a bear + star in the top right corner. The presence of this image indicates that the credential is REAL ID-compliant. For more information on how to determine if you have a REAL ID, the California Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) has a helpful fact sheet available in multiple languages.

How to obtain a Real ID

U.S. citizens and all legal residents of the United States can apply for a REAL ID driver’s license or identification card. The DMV processes REAL ID applications in California. Californians who still need to upgrade to a REAL ID, but already possess a federally approved document, such as a passport, can comfortably wait to upgrade to a REAL ID when their driver’s license is due for renewal.

If you need a REAL ID, use the DMV’s REAL ID checklist to gather all of the documentation you will need to apply for your REAL ID. You may then start your application online, upload your documents, then you must complete the process in person at a DMV office. Visit the DMV’s website for more information.

Please note that it has been reported that the DMV office in Eureka, located at 3300 Broadway St., will be closing at 5 p.m. on Friday, May 16 while the office moves to its new location at 2500 Sixth St. Their new Eureka location is expected to open at 9 a.m. on Wednesday, June 4. These dates are subject to change, so please plan accordingly.

By planning ahead and staying informed, you can minimize stress and make your travel experience more enjoyable.

For more information about REAL ID requirements, please visit the U.S. Department of Homeland Security’s REAL ID Frequently Asked Questions web page.

You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. Bidders at the trustee auction must make cashier's checks payable to WT Capital. Third party cashier's checks will not be accepted. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 559-228-8393 or visit this internet website www.wtcap.com, using the file number assigned to this case 24-14272-104. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: Effective January 1, 2021, you may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (559) 228-8393, or visit this internet website www.wtcap.com, using the file number assigned to this case 24-14272-104 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.
